

Join us for a day of

Exploring the sciences

Sunday, November 15 12-4 pm

fun

physics

family

kids

biology

learning

science

Exploring the Sciences is a day for the whole family to have fun and learn about scientific research going on at the University of Wisconsin. There will be activities for children of all ages and scientists available to answer questions.

- Learn to use the tools of a scientist.
- Find out how to turn pennies silver.
- Check out lightening in a ball.
- Talk to scientists who built a telescope deep in the ice at the South Pole.

Space Place, in the Villager Mall, 2300 South Park

For more information, call Janet at 263-4686 or email Dana at huebert@wisc.edu